We are passionate about business success, so that is how we run the firm – we provide building designs dedicated to our clients' success stories.

Together, we design success.

EXPERIENCE OVERVIEW

INTERIOR DESIGN EXPERIENCE

Interior design draws on aspects of environmental psychology, architectural, and product design. Like any other specialty, interiors have unique design demands that require a trained eye. Intergroup completes more than 150 varying interior design and tenant finish projects annually. Virtually every project we complete requires a trained interior designer.

TECHNICAL COMPETANCE

Experience is essential to an interiors practice, but equally important is a designer's innate sense of balance, rhythm, color, and proportion. Interior designers in essence are technically skilled artists. The ability to visualize space is one of the most important. At Intergroup, we know how to define spatial boundaries and create experiences through details, finishes, and furnishings. We take interior design seriously which is why our department head is both an architect and interior designer.

STRATEGY

Significant to interiors is the involvement of the client in fine detailing. We make an effort to understand a client's preference and design accordingly. Market conditions, trends, and life cycle information are included as part of our process. We have a product library that includes thousands of samples of paint, wall coverings, flooring, and specialty products that we keep current. When designing an interior for your space, we review alternatives and select the best materials for your budget, goals, and brand.
